NEGRO SLAYER OF SHOP GIRL LYNCHED

Strung Up to the Public Arch at Eighth and Commercial Streets, Cairo, Illinois and 500 Shots Fired Into His Body when the Rope Eroke—Dead Body then Burned -10,000 Spectators Danced in Glee.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 11.—Will James, the negro suspected of being the murderer of Miss Annie Pelley, was killed here tonight by a mob. James was strung up to the public arch, the rope broke and at least 500 shots were fired into his body. He made a partial confession and implicated another negro. Arthur Alexander, for whom the mob is now searching.

Lynched in City's Prominent Square. James was lynched in the most prom-inent square of the city, and was hang-ed to the arch at Eighth and Commer-

Corpse Dragged Through Streets. Women present were the first to pull the rope. When it broke the frenzy of the mob was uncontrollable, and they fired volley after volley into James' hedy, shooting him to pieces. The mob then dragged the corpse through the streets for more than a mile to Twenty-sixth and Elm streets, and burned it where the murder was committed.

10,000 Persons Saw the Lynching. At least ten thousand people witnessed the lynching of James, who was found with Sheriff Davis between Karnsk. Ill... and Belknap by the Catro crowd who went up this afternoon.

The mob overpowered the officers

The mob overpowered the officers and took the negro from them, and after a talk it was decided to bring the prisoner back to this city and lynch

Sheriff Davis had been fleeing from the mob for twenty-four hours with the prisoner. Driven from town to town my menacing crowds, he had taken to the woods with James, but the persistent search of the avengers proved effective at last.

Fully a thousand persons went to find the negro, and when the pursuers arrived at Cairo with James, they were met by a howling mob of $,000 others bent on slaying the negro.

They marched the negro direct to the public arch. Many women were in the tools and they were anxious to help do the work.

Sheriff Pleaded With the Mob. Sheriff Davis, having been frustrated in his attempt to hide the negro, pleaded for the life of the prisoner, but without awalt. When Cairo was reached sheriff Davis was taken in charge by part of the meb, while the rest rushed the negro rapidly to his death. The mob which chased the sheriff and the negro was so large that it scoured the entire country from Karnak to Vienna. III., a distance of sixteen miles.

When found by the mob, the negro was handcuffed between two officers, and all three were lying on the bank of the creek, and so exhausted from hunger and exposure that in the first futile attempt to clude the mob they were not able to make nuch resist-

Could Do Nothing with the Mob. Sheriff Davis sald tonight that he deplored the lynching. He made every possible resistance in tils power, he ery possible resistance in fils power, he said, but the crowd was so large that he could do absolutely nothing. He said that after taking Jamea from caire he had to leave the train at Dongola last night to said the mob that was waiting for film at a tewn ahead. He made an effort to get a vehicle at Dongola, but found it impossible because the news had spread over the country, and everyone knowing the crime that the negro had committed, refused to assist in eluding mitted, refused to assist in cluding the pursuers. They even refused food in many cases.

At every point where he tried to hoard a train he was blocked by a threatening crowd.

After a long, exhausting, foodless tramp, the sheriff and his deputy had lain down with the prisoner to rest.

At dusk, scouts of the searchers found the three and news was sent along the line to the scattered mob to board a Big Four train at Belkmap. The order was obeyed and a big crowd was on the train when it reached Cairo about 5 octook.

Negro Weakened and Confessed. The negro was taken off at Tenth street and marched right through the principal streets of Cairo to the most public place under the city arch at Eighth and Commercial streets.

While in custody of the mob coming to Cairo the negro would not talk about the crime, but when he stood under the arch he weakened and confessed that he alew Miss Pelley. He said that Arthur Alexander was im-plicated in the crime. Spectators Danced in Glee.

Spectators Danced in Gles.

The attempt at hanging followed quickly. The growls of the mob, the grinding of the rope and the struggles of the negro stopped only a moment, owing to the snapping of the rope. The 10,000 persons who had looked on and danced in glee, produced armed men almost by magic and they filled, the negro with bullets. Then not satisted with vengeance, the mob dragged the body to the place where Miss Pelley's body, bound, gagged, and brulsed, had been found. A roaring fire was built and the body was burned up. MORE RIGID EXAMINATION

Government. Washington, Nov. 11.—How many thousands of dollars will be saved to the government by a more rigid examination of tobacco imports to prevent the wrapper product coming in under the lower duty for filler tobacco is still problematical, but the matter is engaging the attention of customs experts in New York. The treasury department last month took steps looking experts in New York. The treasury department last month took steps looking to more rigid scrutiny and announced that seisures might be made. Wrapper and filler tobacco when mixed or packed with over 15 per cent. of wrapper, if unstemmed, is taxed $1.85 a pound, and $2.50 a pound if stemmed, while filler otherwise is taxed only 35 cents if unstemmed and 50 cents if stemmed. Wrapper is for cigar wrappers and filler means all other leaf tobacco. Most of the tobacco is imported by the American Tobacco company. Reports indicate that an examination of only 10 per cent. of each importation as at New York does not safeguard the government's interests.

Mme. Steinheil An Accomplice

IN MURDER OF HER HUSBAND AND STEPMOTHER.

THEORY OF THE STATE

Outlined in Persecution's Opening Argument-The Prisoner Dejected-Verdict Probably Tomorrow

Paris, Nov. 11.—That Mme. Stein-heil, aided by some unknown accom-plice, murdered her husband so as to obtain her freedom to wed the wealthy and infatuated Maurice Borderel, but the killing of her stepmother was un-premeditated, and merely incidental to the tragedy, is the theory of the state as outlined by Trouard Rolle, the judge advocate, in opening the argu-ment of the prosecution this after-noon.

Prisoner Driven to Desperation.

Prisoner Driven to Desperation.

Driven to desperation by her financial and domestic situation, the judge advocate contended, Mme. Steinhell saw in Borderel a savior with whom, once rid of her hisband, she could live in luxury as wife, if possible, or as mistress. Seeking to stimulate in a graphic manner that her husband was assassinated by burglars, who had bound and gasged her and her stepmother, he argued, the defendant brought Mme, Japy to her home, but in the feverish haste the binding of the mother was overdone and the murderess found her dead when the slaying of Steinheil had been accomplished.

Crime Not Sufficiently Established. The judge advocate admitted that the crime of parricide did not appear to be sufficiently established, but he was convinced that the prisener called her husband and assisted in his murder. The prosecutor joined in the earlier declaration of M. De Valles, the creatding judge, that he would raise before the jury the general question of the complicity of the accused. This was interpreted as an acknowledge-nent that the evidence was not suffi-cient to maintain the charge that Mme, Steinheil was the principal and that, therefore, he would ask for her convic-

Mme. Steinheil Dejected.

Mme. Steinheil Dejected.

Throughout the crushing arraignment today the woman sat with her bowed head dejectedly buried in her arms on the rail. The testimeny was restricted to statements by a few friends of the defendant, who considered her incapable of the crime. A lawyer, M. Paisant by name, who was an old friend of Mme. Steinheil, described her as a veritable angel of loce toward her husband and declared that her entire life was a heroic struggle against adverse circumstances.

Verdict Tomerrow.

Verdict Tomorrow. The judge advocate will conclude his argument tomorrow afternoon. M. Aubin, counsel for the defendant, will follow, and a verdict probably will be rendered Saturday.

in the Taunton jail.

Under the questioning of District Attorney Swift, Hill went over in detail the story which his attorney told at the time Hill pleaded guilty.

Medical Examiners Stimson of Tiveron R. I., Gunning, of Fall River, McGrath of Boston and Dr. Coughlin of Fall River, held a consultation. Dr. Gunning then took the stand and said that the four physicians agree that nothing Hill had said could adequately account for the St. Jean girl's death which could be only explained as due to natural causes. He said that Hill's description of her appearance, after she became unconscious. accurately she became unconscious, accurately described the appearance of a person who had been stricken with a sudden stoppage of heart action. He said the autopay had shown that the girl's heart was extraordinarily small.
